Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1400 on Wednesday 24 Feb 2021

UK Outlook for Thursday 11 Mar 2021 to Thursday 25 Mar 2021:
By mid-March and the latter period of the month, a more mobile pattern may begin to develop with an increasing likelihood of Atlantic weather systems moving across the UK, bringing wetter conditions. The most unsettled conditions will likely be seen further north with the driest conditions further south. Strong winds may also develop at times, particularly in the northwest, with winds likely lighter overall in the southeast. Temperatures will probably be near average overall.
